

1. Have you ever hunted for treasure? What are some of the moral implications of treasure hunting?
2. Carr discovered that following Christ didn't make him immune to tragedy or crisis. Do you think that's fair? Why or why not?
3. Why did Bella throw all of her energies into her work and ignore personal relationships? How valid were her reasons for doing that?
4. Have you ever been interested in investigative work? How might the accepted means of obtaining information conflict with a Christian's commitment to truth and honesty? In what ways could investigative work fulfill a Christian's mission?
5. How well do you read body language? Do you find it helpful or threatening that others may be able to discern your thoughts and motives by observing your nonverbal communication? Why?
6. Bella treasured her aunt Debbie. What did she offer that Bella desperately needed? Is there someone in your life who meets a similar need for you? Have you ever filled this role in someone else's life?
7. Bella battled with wanting to be a part of her siblings' lives, but she feared confrontation with her father. If you were her best friend, what would you have suggested?
8. Brandt was a hardened man, motivated by greed. Why is it that some become better people when they face adversity, while others sink into evil?
9. Bella and Carr realized they were attracted to each other, but so many problems stood in their way. What did Carr and Bella have to give up in order to be together? Would any of the obstacles they faced have stopped you from following your heart?
10. Where is your treasure? Is that where you want your heart to be? If not, what changes will you try to make in the coming year?

