

1. Meghan and Ash are at odds from the very beginning. What helps them work together as professionals, despite their personal differences? Could you have handled Ash's critical nature?
2. Lindsay has her own demons. How did you feel about her parents' determination not to give up on their daughter's addictive behaviors?
3. Every good man and leader wants a friend closer than a brother. In what ways does Scottard Burnette look out for Jackson Hall?
4. Dr. David Sanchez has a unique approach to helping Lindsay combat her addictions. How did you feel about his methods?
5. Ethan Leonard has his own philosophy about life. How does his son feel about his values?
6. Ash finally finds the courage to make restitution with the past. What did you think of the response he got? Have you ever had to make a difficult apology? How was your apology received? Have you ever been asked to forgive someone for something you weren't sure you could forgive? How did you handle that?
7. Meghan's accident nearly kills her. How does it affect those around her?
8. Initially, did you trust Chip? Why or why not? If you began to trust him more as the story unfolded, what was it that made the difference?
9. Do you think President Hall and his wife share any of the blame for Lindsay's situation?
10. What do you think might have happened to Pepper's husband?
11. Scottard Burnette has lived with the anguish of his son's death and his wife's abandonment. What did you think of his rationale? Did you feel sorry for him? Why or why not?
12. Do you think Lindsay and her parents will ever have a loving and open relationship? Why or why not?
13. In your opinion, does the end ever justify the means? Discuss your reasoning, along with any examples from your own experience.

